Ex-Convicts

A FRIEND OF FALLEN MEN.
Washington, D. C., June 28.—A young man who appeared intelligent and strong, but who had the hunted look of one who has been rejected and forgotten by men, walked up to the president of a bank in this city the other day.

"I used to be a bank cashier," he said. "Now I am an ex-convict. Served two years in the pen. Will you give me a job in your bank?"

The bank president carefully scrutinized the stranger, and, after reading a note handed to him by the ex-convict, replied:

"Certainly I will. You come in tomorrow morning and we will start you $25 a week. Later we will give you $35, since you are an experienced cashier."

NOTE WAS ENOUGH.
Nothing was asked about the man's term in prison, nor did the president seem concerned at the prospect of employing an ex-convict in his bank. The reason for the president's willingness to give the young man a chance to start life over, without even so much as asking a question, was explained by the fact that the note he handed the president was from Dr. Earl E. Dudding, founder and president of the Prisoners' Relief society, with headquarters in Washington.

This society, which is national in its scope, was founded five years ago for the purpose of getting jobs for ex-convicts. During that time more than 50,000 released prisoners have been placed in positions by the society. The records show that less than one percent of the ex-convicts given a fresh start have "gone bad." Dr. Dudding, the founder, is himself an ex-convict and he knows how hard it is for a man, with the stamp of the prison cell upon him, to get a new footing in the world.

"In every prisoner," said Dr. Dudding, "no matter how terrible the crime he has committed, there is always some seed of good left. That seed must be cultivated. He is often willing to lead a clean life, but in his mind there is always a corner where the people will know, people will shun him."

"Our organization thinks that people have the right to know but not to shun. Society owes the prisoner the right to help him to get on his feet. Work is what these men and women want—some means to earn an honest livelihood, and to keep them from brooding over the mistakes for which they have fully paid with some of the best years of their lives."

KILLED HIS UNCLE.
"I know what it is to have society look down upon you for having spent the prison years," I lived in Huntington, W. Va. I had a wife and four children. I was "respected" in my community and held a position paying me $5,000 as general sales agent for Jackson, Erie, Scott & Co., Chicago, when occurred what was legally called my crime of manslaughter. In what was shown to be a snoring in self-defense, I killed my uncle. My penalty was five years in prison.

"When I was released, I started out on the road as a salesman, but my old acquaintances refused to buy from me, because I was an ex-convict. I went out and sold goods for a friend of mine before I went to jail, called me into his office and told me that he would like to start buying of me again, but said that he couldn't, lest his trade should find out he bought goods from a jail-bird. He offered me $50 to go where I was not known."

"I didn't want charity. I wanted to make a living. I went back to my home in West Virginia, with my broken like fallen china, and I thought how weary man turned out of prison had to face the world as I did. I then started, single-handed, to change the world's attitude toward the man who has been in prison."

DIDN'T HAVE A NICKLE.
"I conceived the idea of organizing a society to carry on this work. I didn't have a nickel to my name at the time, so I borrowed $14 and got an office. A month later the society was chartered by the state of West Virginia. My neighbors wouldn't have anything to do with me, and it was hard to keep up while trying to get people interested in the work. Today these very people in Huntington are among the most generous contributors to the support of our society."

"Every year more than 100,000 men and women are released from the nation's penitentiaries and jails of the United States. As we have a small organization, everybody working without salary except the secretary, who gets $2 a week, we are not able to take care of such a large number. So far this year we have secured employment for 7,000 men and women who

Non-Partisan League Looks for Victory

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Fargo, N. D., June 28.—With 200 isolated precincts in the state still to be accounted for, the Non-Partisan league laws voted on in Thursday referendum, while 12,449 negative votes were cast.

Estimates based upon returns received from the counties indicate that the final majority for the league laws will be between five and seven thousand.

Dakota Town Swept by Fire This Morning

Mandan, N. D., June 28.—Three-fourths of the business district and two blocks of residences in Dickinson, Stark county, were wiped out by fire early this morning, according to a telephone message received here.

TREATY IS SIGNED

City Scored By Fire Inspector

CONDITIONS SAID TO BE DEPLORABLE

J. E. KENNEDY ASSERTS SITUATION HERE IS NOT EQUALLED IN STATE.

GASOLINE STORAGE VIOLATION OF LAW

Finds Large Quantities Kept Contrary To State Ordinance; Condemns Burning Rubbish in Alleys.

Janesville was bitterly arraigned today by J. E. Kennedy, fire inspector, for the lack of methods employed to guard against fire. Mr. Kennedy, who is in charge of the fire department, stated that the conditions that exist here are not equalled by any city the size of Janesville in Wisconsin.

Mr. Kennedy has been in Janesville for several weeks making a careful survey of the situation and he announced this morning that steps would have to be taken at once to improve the conditions.

Mr. Kennedy issued the following statement after he had completed an extensive survey:

Gasoline Storage Scored.
"With the increased cost of labor and building material, the city of Janesville ought to take steps to protect its citizens and their property from fire. A condition exists here that is not equalled by any city of its size in Wisconsin. There is enough gasoline on the east side, stored in violation of the state law and the city ordinance, to blow that portion of the city off the map. In every part of the city, gasoline in the barrel and drum is found endangering the lives and property of the city. The state requires that no gasoline in excess of five gallons shall be carried or stored in any building but a fireproof building, properly ventilated, and then shall be kept at least 25 feet from any other building, or else buried under the ground."

Accumulations of rubbish and old waste are found in or near all but two garages in this city. It seems to be a most common custom in the city of Janesville to pile up rubbish in alleys and streets. In one alley 11 such fires were counted. No open fires shall be started within 20 feet of any building, and no arrangement should be made to haul such accumulations away and properly dispose of them, not by adding it to the scenery along the river bank. Stove pipes and chimneys are found in every part of the city."

Janesville Woefully Behind.
"Janesville is woefully behind other cities of its class in these matters and the attitude of the business public, especially renters, is against any criticism of existing conditions. About six years ago a law was passed by which 2 percent of all the premiums on fire insurance were to be paid into the pension fund of the fire department of the city and villages that provided certain protection and in addition there was made a provision that the business district is to be inspected four times a year and the residence portion twice a year. In practically all cities this inspection has been thoroughly done and has resulted in a marked decrease in the fire loss and great improvement in appearances."

"Janesville has not had such inspections for years and more since that time until this spring, although it has been certified to the insurance commissioner that such inspection was made and about $1600 paid on such statement. The result is that while other cities have been complying with state requirements in this respect, safeguarding their property, required better construction and care of property and have had old shacks that endanger other property to be removed, Janesville has stood still and is now about five years behind the progress of this regard."

Insurance Rates Fixed by the amount of the hazard and much of the property of Janesville is penalized because of existing conditions.

"This city no doubt, will be re-rated during this summer and if existing conditions are not corrected, the property holders will pay far more in their insurance in the coming years. The local fire department will soon make an inspection and may, no doubt, find a list of the critical places."

Janesville is growing, property is increasing in value. No doubt within 10 years it will have doubled in size. While boasting for a bigger and better Janesville why not also make it a cleaner and safer Janesville?"

"J. E. Kennedy, Fire Inspector of the State Mutual Fire Insurance Association."

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 28.—The tornado that swept Fergus Falls with the loss of over 50 lives, and the destruction of property valued at in excess of three million dollars, hit the city as three distinct forces. Three giant funnel clouds swept into the city and merged.

A section a mile long and from two to four or five city blocks in width was devastated. Seven churches were completely demolished.

The most striking thing was the blowing of ten people into the river and lakes in the city, eight of these being drowned when their homes were blown into the water.

WILSON TO LEAVE PARIS TONIGHT; SETS SAIL TOMORROW

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Washington, June 28.—President Wilson and his party will leave Paris at 9:30 tonight for the first to sail for home. Secretary Tamm will be notified today.

With the departure from Paris tonight of President Wilson preparatory to sailing tomorrow from there on the George Washington, the center of interest as regards the treaty shifts to the senate, ratification by which is necessary for actual termination of the war between this country and Germany. Due to opposition to the league of nations covenant—a part of the treaty—and to certain provisions of the treaty itself, the contest in the senate is expected to be long and bitter.

The cable from President Wilson said: "All well."

President Wilson has consented to an unofficial reception for him on his arrival in New York. A committee of citizens through Secretary Tamm, had asked that he be allowed to prepare an unofficial greeting. This is the first intimation of where the president would land.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME IN LA PRAIRIE

Fire of an unknown origin completely destroyed the home of William E. Gleason in the town of La Prairie about 6:30 o'clock last evening. Members of the Janesville fire department assisted by neighbors succeeded in saving the household goods. The barn and other small structures were also saved.

Mrs. Gleason discovered the fire and long before help arrived the house was consumed by the flames. Neighbors formed a bucket brigade and the local department was sent for but to no avail as the house was a total loss shortly after the first broke out.

Chief Murphy said today that chemicals were poured on the barn and other structures to prevent the spread of the flames. The firemen were handicapped by the lack of water in the vicinity of the Gleason home.

KAISER IS GOING TO BUY NEW HOME IN NETHERLANDS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Amsterdam, Wednesday, June 26.—Former Emperor William and his advisers are apparently fully confident The Netherlands government will be unable to compel the emperor's suit to return to his extradition which the former emperor's suit regards as illegal under existing international law.

Several members of the entourage are away from Amsterdam, being busy engaged in inspecting houses with a view to the purchase of Count Hohenlohe's future residence and indications point to his removal within a short period from his present place of exile.

The former monarch was outwardly calm today after the first shock of learning that Germany had decided to sign the treaty without reservations. His wife, however, was more affected and appeared to be deeply saddened by the prospect that it will be impossible for her ever to return to Germany.

As far as can be learned the choice of a future home for Count Hohenlohe lies between two castles, one in the vicinity of Doorn and the other near Arnhem.

FOOTVILLE WOMAN HURT IN RUNAWAY

[By Special Correspondent]
Footville, June 28.—Mrs. James Pepper, Footville, started for Janesville with a horse and buggy Friday. A car came up behind her, driven by Charles Upitz, Footville. He turned out and the car locked wheels with the buggy. The spokes all had to be broken out to release it. The horse ran away. Mrs. Pepper was thrown out on her face and badly injured. She was taken to her home and is now under the doctor's care.

OFFICIAL PEACE DECLARED TODAY; GERMANS AFFIX SIGNATURES TO TERMS

Epochal Meeting in Hall of Mirrors; China Declines to Place Name on Pact; Crowds Gather in Versailles For Historic Event.

(By the Associated Press.)
Versailles, June 28.—The world war was formally ended today by the signing of the peace treaty with Germany.

The epochal meeting in the hall of mirrors began at 3:10 o'clock and the German delegates, the first to sign, affixed their signatures at 3:13 o'clock. They were followed by the American delegates headed by President Wilson, and then by the plenipotentiaries of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan. The representatives of the minor powers signed in alphabetical order.

China's delegates did not attend the session, declining to sign the treaty because they were not permitted to make reservations.

The protocol was signed by all those who signed the treaty. The Rhine arrangement was signed by the Germans, British and French plenipotentiaries.

LOYALTY OF FOE TESTED.
Premier Clemenceau put the direct question to the Germans whether they were willing to sign and execute loyally all terms.

At 3:44 o'clock cannon began, to boom announcing the completion of the ceremony of signing. The proceedings were formally closed at 3:49 o'clock.

Premier Clemenceau in opening the session said: "The session is open. The allied and associated powers on one side and the German commission on the other side, have come to an agreement on the conditions of peace. The text has been completely drafted and the president of the conference has stated in writing that the text that is about to be signed now is identical with the 200 copies that have been delivered to the German delegation. The signatures will be given now and they amount to a solemn undertaking faithfully and loyally to execute the conditions embodied by this treaty of peace. I now invite the delegates of the German commission to sign the treaty."

General Jan Christian Smuts, one of the delegates representing the Union of South Africa, signed the treaty under protest. He objected to certain territorial settlements making a lengthy statement.

General Smuts said that the indemnities stipulated could not be accepted without grave injuries to the industrial revival of Europe.

CROWDS CHEER MADLY.
As Premier Clemenceau, President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George emerged from the palace, the great crowd gathered outside swept aside the cordons of troops, cheering madly. The three statesmen were swept along by the surging thousands. Many soldiers broke ranks and joined in the demonstration, while guns boomed as low flying airplanes seemed to fill the air.

Premier Clemenceau and Lloyd George and President Wilson were photographed together on the terrace. After the demonstration the three allied leaders left Versailles in the same automobile, the crowds following and cheering.

Versailles Regains Glory.
The signature of the "second peace of Versailles," in the long hall of mirrors in the chateau of Versailles, was the crowning event of the war. The three allied leaders left Versailles in the same automobile, the crowds following and cheering.

The managers of the various offices have been demanding of the industrial commission a definite statement as to whether or not the offices are to be maintained after July 1. This the commission could not make as it depends entirely upon what action is taken by the legislature. The appropriation for the employment bureaus was separated from the general appropriation bill for the industrial commission and was held up for several weeks waiting to see if congress did not pass an appropriation bill to assist the states in maintaining the public employment offices.

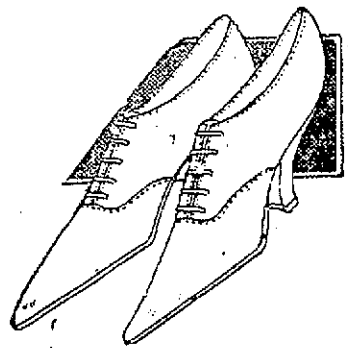

That the free employment bureaus in Wisconsin are of great service to the unemployed is shown from a report from the Superior office received last night. During the last week 54 returned soldiers were provided with employment free through the Superior office.

The 20 cities where the free agencies are still in existence, but will have to be closed unless the legislature makes the appropriation at once are: Ashland, Eau Claire, Green Bay, Hurley, Janesville, Kenosha, La Crosse, Madison, Manitowish, Marinette, Milwaukee, Oshkosh, Racine, Shawano, Sheboygan, Superior, Wausau, Waubesa, Watertown and West Allis. In practically every one of those cities private agencies will be established within a week or two if the state withdraws its support from the free bureaus and the expenses will have to be borne by those seeking employment.

In the meantime thousands upon thousands of Parisians were packing regular and special trains and interurban lines to Versailles and contending with the residents of Versailles for places in the great Place d'Armes before the chateau, or in chateau park where playing of the fabled fountains of Versailles would mark the end of the ceremony. They had hoped for only a brief glimpse of the delegates, only a brief glimpse of the delegates, only a brief glimpse of the delegates.

HASKINS TELLS OF SOCIETY'S WORK FOR RELEASED CONVICTS

served terms. We have thrown out our present quarters and find it necessary to build a new home and hire help to conduct our work."

STARTS DRIVE FOR FUND.
To this end Dr. Dudding has started a nation-wide drive for $1,000,000 in order to put the society on a sound financial basis. It is proposed to use half that amount, when raised, as endowment fund. The remainder will be spent for a new national headquarters and in establishing branch offices in America's principal cities, with a resident labor agent or office manager in charge. The campaign has already opened here. Washington's share is $10,000. As soon as that sum is raised the country will be asked to contribute the balance. The campaign will be carried on by the Rotary clubs of the country.

"The society has the support of some of the most influential men and women in the country. William Jennings Bryan, former secretary of state, gives this commendation to the society:
"I am in earnest sympathy with the Prisoners' Relief society in its endeavor to make honest and useful citizens of men who have paid the penalty of violated law. It is seldom that one of them has reached depths from which education is impossible. Every criminal has a heart and few have hearts so hardened that they cannot feel the softening influence of honest and well directed sympathy."

ALL KNOW ABOUT SOCIETY.
Every man and woman in the penitentiaries of the country knows about the society. About a month before the term of a prisoner expires, the convict is notified by the society. The society sends an application blank to the prisoner to fill out, setting forth the kind of work desired, personal description, the locality he would like to settle in and other questions along that line.

The society has the names of 20,000 concerns which employ labor, and immediately upon receiving an application from a prisoner this list is referred to. If location in any particular section of the country is desired by the prisoner, the Rotary club nearest that place is asked to help find employment for the applicant.

Here is an instance of how the Rotary clubs of the country co-operate with the society. A man, released from Great Meadow prison, Comstock, N. Y., applied to the society for assistance in getting a job in Cleveland. The society, through the Cleveland Rotary club, secured a position for him at a manufacturing plant in that city. After working several weeks, the man, who had been a soldier, wrote Dr. Dudding as follows:

SATISFIED TO HAVE CHANCE.
"I am working 12 hours a day and seven days in the week, which leaves me very little time for recreation. I am earning $75 a month. That does not seem very much for these times, but I am satisfied just to get a chance. I am thankful for the opportunity given me to prove my honest intention to become a useful member of society again."

"I left prison without any illusions insofar as the struggle ahead of me is concerned. I know quite well that for a man who has served his term, the hardest part is the years immediately after his release, when the true test comes to him to prove what he is made of. That is why I feel confident that there will be nothing to prevent me from making a better life for myself. I will do for your sake as well as my own."

Dr. Dudding related the case of a notorious bank robber, who was known under the name of Philadelphia Johnnie. He had served 20 years in penitentiaries. One day Dr. Dudding was going through Sing Sing prison, with Thomas Mott Osborne, the warden, when he came in contact with this man. The prisoner told how each time he was released he was hounded so by "respectable" people, who refused to give him employment that each time he slipped back to his old wayward path. He knew he could make good if given a chance, and Dr. Dudding agreed to get him a job. Upon being released this man was hired by a firm near Pittsburgh, and today he is occupying a position of trust.

These are a few of the thousands of records on file in the office of the society. The record of each man and woman assisted by the society is kept by the society, and of the 500 ex-convicts given employment in Washington during the past year, only seven have violated the trust placed in them.

"MA" TELLS HOW SHE MADE THOSE PIES

A reception was held for "Ma" Burdick at the library yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Women's Federation of clubs. Miss Gertrude Cobb, the president of the federation, introduced the speaker.

"Ma's" talk was entirely informal. She talked about the boys and the way that they were treated over there. Then she told how she had made the pies for the boys. The boys called them. Each night after the canteen hut was closed up, she and her helper, and there was generally only one, would prepare the fillings for the pies for the next day. Apples and pumpkin, and one time a surprise, prune pies, were baked in the field range, furnished by the commissary department. "Pa" regarded the pies as very special ones to make the pies. "Ma" and her helper took turns. They rolled and cut the dough, kept the oven hot, until there could smell them for a long ways off, and would come on the run to the hut.

"Ma" said that it made her tired to see some folks making doughnuts. She said that they don't have to be rolled and cut just so just as she could cut them they were put into tins by the helper and dropped into the meat pans, which were heated by the frying. She made thousands of doughnuts and hundreds of pies a day and the most essential thing that she found about making them was speed.

"Ma" told some little stories which illustrated the appreciation of the fellows from what she did for them, and how they made the Salvation but their home.

The conclusion of the talk many of the audience asked "Ma" questions about the equipment and the help which she had in her work.

"Pa" told a few words telling of the respect which the Salvation lassies received from the American soldiers. He recited a poem dedicated to the Salvation lassies who worked up in the Argonne.

PEACE TREATY IS SIGNED; WORLD WAR IS CLOSED

but they wished to be able to say later that they had participated in the event.

The Avenue de Paris, the broad boulevard leading direct to the chateau's court of honor, was reserved for the automobiles of delegates and secretaries. For half a mile before they entered the chateau grounds ranks of French soldiers of today, succeeded within the grille of the court of honor by rows of statues of old time military heroes of France from Admiral Duquesne and Chevalier Bayard, "without fear and without reproach," to Prince de Conde and Viscount de Turenne.

Guards Present Arms
A company of republican guards in brilliant full dress uniforms drawn up at the end of the court as a guard of honor, presented arms as the leading plenipotentiaries passed. On entering the building by the portal through which the Paris mob burst in the early days of the French revolution, the delegates mounted by all possible or queen's stairways to the suite of "Queen's apartments" and the hall of peace, through which they gained access to the hall of mirrors. The walls of these apartments were hung with tapestries, and the ceiling represented scenes of the triumphant reign of Louis XIV, and were carpeted with rugs of the same epoch.

To reach the peace table the plenipotentiaries passed through a space reserved for some 400 privileged guests, who were instructed to be in their seats well in advance of the entry of the delegates. The delegates, straggling in without order as they did when the original terms of peace were communicated to the Germans, should make their entrance by groups, each one being formally announced by ushers of the French foreign office.

Poe Makes Separate Entry
This formality was not prescribed for the Germans who were given a separate route of entry. Thus there was no occasion for the guard of honor to render them military honors. Dismounted guardsmen with drawn sabres, who lined the marble staircase and the queen's apartments when the allied delegates passed, remained in their places for the entry of the Germans.

Seventy-two chairs for the plenipotentiaries were drawn up around three sides of the table which formed an open rectangle fully 80 feet in length on its longest side. A chair for each plenipotentiary was placed in the center of the long table facing the windows with those for President Wilson and Premier Lloyd-George on the right and left hand respectively.

The German delegates were assigned seats at the side of the table nearest the entrance, which they could take after all the others had been seated. This arrangement was made to permit the Germans to leave after the signature of the treaty before the allied plenipotentiaries had time to leave the hall. The procession of allied delegates to the terrace from which to witness the playing of the Versailles fountain before returning to Paris.

EVANSVILLE COUPLE WEDDED THURSDAY

Evansville, June 28.—A pretty home wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Axtell, Church street, Thursday afternoon, when at 4 o'clock the words were spoken that united as husband and wife Miss Ruth Weston of this city and Henry Weygand, Burlington.

The parlors were beautifully decorated with pink and white roses and other flowers in profusion. The bride couple descended the stairs from the rooms above as Mrs. Axtell sang, "Oh Promise Me." They took their places, unattended, before the officiating clergyman, Rev. O. W. Smith. The bride was attired in a gown of white georgette and wore a veil. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

A luncheon followed the ceremony and was served by the following young women: the Misses Mildred Cain, Thelma Clark, Harriet Greene, Lucile Smith.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weygand, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Seth Pratt, Burlington; Miss Ruth Allen, Lake Geneva; Mrs. Lewis Rye, Avon; Mrs. May Winston and daughter, Miss Therese, Boise, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Winston, Fairview, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Weygand left on the evening train on a wedding tour to Minneapolis, Yellowstone and Glacier parks, Salt Lake City and Denver. They will be at home after August 1st at Burlington.

Mrs. W. Phillips.
Late Thursday afternoon Mrs. W. Phillips died at the Mercy hospital, Evansville, following a brief illness. She is survived by her husband, three sons, and two daughters. One son, Max, who is employed by the government as a chemist at Washington, D. C., arrived in time to see his mother shortly before her death. Her body was taken from Evansville.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

By Mrs. Louise Ford.

"We may live without poetry, music and art.
We may live without conscience, and live without heart.
We may live without friends; we may live without books,
But civilized man cannot live without cooks."

Poets have sung in verse and song of the might of cooks, and when all else failed, women have found that to reach the heart of mere man was always through his stomach. Now that woman has achieved her highest ambition—the ballot—will she lay down her scepter that she has wielded so successfully and let man do his own cooking, for there will be no one else to do it. Lady Tree of England says "that man does everything better than woman."

Well, let us take a day off from all the questions of the day and have a rest. How would you like to talk of an old fashioned strawberry shortcake like mother used to make? Not made of a two-story cake. Oh, no! But made of biscuit crust, using either sour cream or failing that, baking powder, rolled out in two layers with plenty of butter spread on each, then put together and baked in a hot oven; when taken out it is hot and crackly and split open it is all ready for ripe, rich, juicy berries to each helping, some crushed and some uncrushed, between the layers and plenty on top, oozing down the sides, and soaking through the whole; a bowl of good rich jersey cream beside it, clotted cream, just as it was skimmed from the milk, real yellow cream with a twang of clover blossoms and sweet grass, all sending out a delicate strawberry perfume on the delighted air. Give us a piece the size of a half a loaf of bread, all soaked in strawberries. Then eat with your eyes first, for the color scheme is marvelous in its brilliancy and as the moist of the world are more or less artists, it appeals to the artistic point of view.

And then, ah! then ask what you will; it shall be granted to you, even to the half of a kingdom. Any woman who has failed to find how to win, is not on to her job and deserves to lose. It may be possible at the psychological moment that the women tried the old method on the senators, and won the ballot.

Solomon says: "It takes a hundred years to learn a man, but that one can never learn a woman." We'll let it go at that, as he was wise only in his own generation and the present would only say, "He is a back number and not to be considered." A great author said, "If he were to be born again he would wish it might be a cook; feeling sure that they were 'born, not made.' On the hypothesis that we are placed here for a purpose, and that purpose is for the best good and happiness of our fellow men, I have concluded that a cook has a greater influence for good or evil than the greatest of the so-called professions."

Bad cookery has made great poets as well as bad husbands and murderers through indigestion—Byron, Shelley, Keats, Poe. The physical system—the stomach—that boiler and engine room that forms the motive power of the brain, has for its firemen and engineers the cook. Cooks are even responsible for war. An experiment on feeding two kittens found after a time that one was good natured and lovable, while one could never approach the other without it would spit and snarl.

Question—Is that the trouble with some people—indigestion? Cooks have wrought both physical beauty and mental greatness. They have also inclined men's hearts to peace and good will. We are told that we are living in a "new world"; that old things have passed away. Then it follows that we must have new life methods to direct us. Science has come to the help of cooks with a balanced ration—just so much of caloric protein, etc.; is to make up a ration. The cook then, will no longer be praised or blamed if they follow directions. But will they? For, if demanded, then it will be given, regardless of science's demands, and it is certain that the world "lives to eat," not "eats to live."

Now that woman has invaded nearly all of man's domain, why men are welcome to the so-called place of woman also. If one wishes authority from the bible you will find these words: "I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipe a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down." For ages man has quoted the bible to prove woman's place in the household. "She riseth while it is yet night and giveth meat to her household." "She looketh well to the ways of her household." "She worketh willingly with her hands."

Women's work during the war has certainly proved how efficient she can be, both mentally and physically. Surely she will know how to vote. But it means more than to slip a piece of paper into a box, for it is greater to influence thousands of votes than only one and that means leaders. Can they be found without endangering the home life? Bishop Hughes of the Methodist church maintains "the thing for which there is the greatest need now, is the revival of the domestic spirit and the family order, which prevailed in the days of our grandmothers." No doubt those were delightful days and for their generation did good service for mankind. But there is no such thing as "turning backward just for a night." Years ago a woman and all her possessions practically belonged to her husband. Today a man may not under any circumstances open his wife's letters without her permission. She has her legal rights and controls her own property, and now she has the desire of her heart—the ballot—and there are strenuous days before. No looking backward, and if she does not receive all the courtesy that has been hers, then march on.

Then when a little cheer is needed to comfort, turn to the many beautiful things that have been said by those who count. Emerson says: "A woman is a practical poem, planting tenderness, hope and eloquence in all whom she approaches."

Bulwer says: "What is woman? Only one of nature's agreeable blunders."

Well, she has proved that she can hold her own. But—"Where is the man who can live without dining?"

REAL FISH

Time the fish taste best is when You've got up at 4 o'clock.
Pushed the old boat from the dock
An' rowed out a mile or so
To a secret place you know
To the river to a bay
Where the cat-tails bob an' sway—
An' the lily pads an' grass
Sut the habits of the bass;
Then you rig your tackle true
Glad there's no one else about.

First you fill your pipe, an' then
Freshen up your minnow pail;
Maybe take the time to bait
Out the water that has sneaked
In your boat becoz it leaked.
Then you gear your leaders wet
An' adjust your landing net;
Now your oars, so's they'll be clear
When you're castin' far or near.
Then you urig your tackle true
An' all the world looks good to you.

In the distant east the sun
Seems to signal howdy-do;
Sorter glad to welcome you.

Q. In what states is marriage between cousins forbidden? Has such marriage been demonstrated as undesirable? P. E. D.

A. Marriage between cousins is forbidden by law in Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington, and Wyoming. Experts on eugenics state that intermarriage of blood relatives is likely to intensify in the children any family traits that are common in both parents. Where there are family weaknesses intermarriage is therefore undesirable. If there are no dangerous common weaknesses the offspring are likely to be normal, and if there are common traits of strength, these may be intensified in the offspring. Scientists generally are not as strongly opposed to marriage of cousins as is public opinion.

Q. What nationality is most inclined to insanity? D. S. A.

A. The 1810 census showed that there were 13,517 Germans in the insane asylums of this country, and that this was the largest number of any nationality.

Q. Is the Fourth of July a national or state holiday? F. J.

A. The Fourth of July has never been made a national holiday by act of congress. It has been made a legal holiday by every state in the union, and its observance therefore is on state authority. John Adams probably originated the idea of its being a holiday when on July 4, 1776, in a speech he prophesied that it would come to be celebrated by proper displays, shows, and fireworks. It was immediately after this speech that John Hancock ordered the ringing of Old Liberty bell, thus inaugurating the first celebration.

Q. Can cross eyes be made normal? E. F.

A. It is usually possible by a comparatively simple operation by cutting the muscles which hold the eye crooked, thus allowing it to come back to normal.

Q. Who discovered radium?

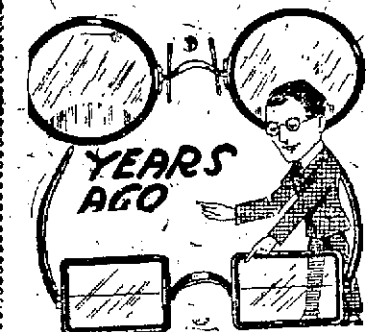

A. Radium was discovered in 1898 by Marie Curie, Paris, and Monsieur Curie, her husband. The credit for the discovery is assigned chiefly to Madame Curie.

RED CROSS PHARMACY

Neither laymen nor doctors in earlier days were able to account for or scientifically handle the change of vision which develops around the age of 40 or 45.

In those days, glasses were bought from "spectacle peddlers." It mattered not whether they suited the requirements and conditions of the wearer's vision.

Science has advanced rapidly; specialists have spent lifetimes perfecting the making of lenses that meet your individual requirements.

When near and far vision becomes confusing and you feel double vision glasses will give relief, go to a reliable optometrist, one who fully understands the condition.

GROTTO DEL CANE.
One of the strangest caves in the world is this Italian grotto in the volcanic region near Pozzuoli. It is a round hole in the hillside, just about high enough for a man to walk erect, and out of it along its floor pours a pale vapor.

No one knows how long this cave is, for no man will ever go to its end. The lovely vapor that flows from its doorway is composed largely of carbonic acid gas, and is a poison of almost instantaneous deadliness.

At the mouth of this natural lethal chamber the deadly vapor flows only ankle deep; a little further in it is about the waist; then up to the shoulders; and farther back it fills the whole cavity.

The cave has been known for many centuries and has snuffed out thousands of lives. When his slaves misbehaved, the Emperor Nero used to sentence them to walk into the grotto. The cruelty which the Roman emperor visited upon his human possession was practiced until a few years ago upon dogs. The guides used to drive the animals into the cave in order to prove to tourists that the vapors were deadly. The dog was then dragged out and revived when possible by throwing him into a nearby lake. Since that lake dried up the practice of sending dogs into the cave has been discontinued, and now its fumes kill nothing but the flame of a torch which the guides thrust into them.

SUMMER IN ON THE JOB.

A. J. Batt, of New Jersey, discovered the first mosquito day before yesterday. He had put his revolver and shot the beast, which, however, limped away carrying the bullet with it.

People supposed they heard the tree toads chirping down by Haskin's Mill last night, but it was only Bud Perkins winding his collar watch. He turned his watch ahead on the first of the month according to law, but the blamed thing won't keep up with the procession unless he winds it every ten minutes.

Miss Esmeralda Oldgal's father has installed a two-passenger porch swing on his front porch and has put up the screens and put a box of good nickel cigars on the porch table in plain sight. Then he is reported to have said: "Esmeralda, if you don't land one this year you will have to go to work."

SOMETIMES.

Jim Hanks was quite a famous lad around the old home town. He cornered nearly all there was of Hickeyville renown. When strangers came, upon a trip, they had to look at him. For some one always took him round to have a squint at Jim. Or all the corned geniuses, for years he took the bun. They told him that he should cash in on all the fame he'd won.

"Go to the sinful city, Jim, and garner all the dough. You'll fade them highfalutin' guys. Take our advice. We know. A boy like you has got the edge on every city bloke. Go to the big town, Jim, and show them how to take a joke. And every day for fourteen years they gave him this advice. And Jim decided he would go when he had found the price.

One day he packed his old suitcase to do as he was bid. He said he'd show the noisy burg where genius had been hid. And here's the strangest part of it—he did, the cuss, he did!

According to Franklin Roosevelt, the new Republican congress has reverted to type. Reverting to type is the only way to get into the papers. Frank knows that.

It is announced that the Anti-Saloon league will ignore the existence of the kitchen stills. Might just as well, not one out of a hundred will make whisky, anyhow.

Germany has no circuses this summer. It is said the menageries were all eaten up during the war.

Wounded in November; Just in Casualty List

Word has just been published in the casualty list that Lieut. John L. Groat, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Groat, 309 Racine street, was wounded slightly last November, just before the armistice was signed. Mrs. Groat received several months ago, stating that he was wounded by a bullet hitting him in the temple, but was not wounded severely enough to go to the hospital. Lieutenant Groat is still overseas.

Is Dandelion Classed As Weed or Food?

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Huntington, W. Va.—Is the dandelion a weed or a food?
The answer to this question means a whole lot to West Virginians, for dandelions can be used in the manufacture of beer or wine.
Prohibition Officer Holt says that food products cannot be used in the manufacture of intoxicating liquor except for sacramental or medicinal purposes, according to President Wilson's proclamation. So if the dandelion is food it is illegal to use it in the manufacture of drinks.

Speeder Given 50 Days by Los Angeles Court

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Los Angeles, Cal.—Speeders are thinking twice before "opening 'er up" in Los Angeles these days. Just the other day a man named M. F. Jenkins was sentenced to 50 days in jail for speeding, without the alternative of a fine. Jenkins failed to show up in court when ordered to appear. He was said to have been stopped twice for speeding on previous occasions.

A PERSONAL MESSAGE from Manager Zanias to Apollo Patrons: It is with a great deal of pleasure that, after a long absence from the Apollo screen, I am able to announce a return of America's Sweetheart, Little Mary. Before contracting for this picture and making this announcement I first satisfied myself as to the merits of this picture and can positively assert without fear of contradiction that "Daddy Long Legs" is Mary Pickford's greatest picture.

Never has there been a sweeter story—never has Mary enacted a sweeter role.

You will enjoy this picture just as much if not more, than you did "Mickey"—of that I am sure.

A Four Minute Talk Why You Should Build Now

WE'RE poised—halted—as a nation. Like the pendulum of a clock that has reached the limit of its sweep and hesitates, so this country swept on for two years in pursuit of war. Peace has come—we're halted! You yourself are delaying action on that building contract! We've got to get started back again or Reconstruction will be a long, laborious, expensive process.

Housing Conditions in This City Are Strained

For two years there has been no building—our population has increased, rents have jumped, property values have risen and people can find no place to live. It is a serious situation.

You know that right now any man with a house or an apartment can get his own price for it. There was never a better time to build from an investment standpoint.

Your Building Will Help Speed Reconstruction

For the first time in years materials are available, deliveries by railroads are certain, and there's labor to do the work. Experts agree that it will be years before building prices will recede—as a result business men the country over are launching their building projects. They're striking while the iron is hot.

You Must Help Re-establish Business

This is the critical moment in our national history—we must pour business into our industries to tide over the transition period and start wheels whirring again. Your $10,000 forces sub-contracts that will filter clear through the fabric of our industry.

What We Need Is Co-operation

If you'll help, and the other fellow will help, we'll relieve conditions in this town, we'll make good business investments, we'll have lots of business and prosperity. What we need is to get started. Your contract is the keystone. Let's GO.

Lenquist Expected To Pitch Janes To Easy Victory Tomorrow

TOBACCO CITY FANS TO SEE REAL SMOKE

James A. Murphy, manager of the Lawrence Janes, was badly cut and bruised about his head, left arm and hip, late this morning when he fell down in a scuffle with a man in the basement of a local cigar store. He will be able to accompany the team to Edgerton tomorrow.

Sam Lenquist will climb onto the slab at Edgerton tomorrow afternoon, determined to add one more whitewash victory to his credit. Judging from his two past performances in the Janes, the game is won now—it's only a question of the size of the score.

Lenquist will enter the game against the Highway Trailers for the purpose of bolstering up his pitching and batting averages. He is out for 15 strike-outs tomorrow. If he allows more than four scattered hits, the Janes will be forced to admit that those Edgerton guys are some hitters. As for hitting himself, he ought to get at least one single and maybe a double.

The same team will face the Trailers tomorrow in the one which defeated Albany, 2 to 0, and the Rockford Cardinals, 1 to 0. Here is the line-up:

Dopp, rf.
Piet, ss.
Kukuska, cf.
Sachs, 1b.
Boud, 3b.
Miller, 2b.
Hixon, lb.
Crawke, c.
Lenquist, p.

As will be noted from the line-up, either Sachs or Vincy will form the left field. Sachs has been changed from his position of sixth in the batting order to clean-up man as the result of his heavy slugging in the past two games.

Boud, Miller, Dopp and Crawke, are all playing city league ball today and will doubtless be in the best of shape for tomorrow's game.

Edgerton expects to see the Trailers come off the batting tomorrow if they don't win another game this season. They are still a little peeved against the 8 to 4 defeat handed them here by the Janes several weeks ago.

By comparative scores the teams appear to be evenly matched. Edgerton defeated Footville two straight games, while the Janes lost out there, 11 to 10. On the other hand the Trailers All-Stars of Milwaukee won from the Janes by a 7 to 6 score in 10 frames and had little trouble in disposing of Edgerton, 6 to 2.

Prospects are that there will be plenty of cash on both sides tomorrow. Manager Murphy is planning to make up what he lost on last week's games tomorrow. He is pretty sure of a victory.

Bevo Bick will carry the team to the Tobacco City, leaving here about 1 o'clock. The game will start at 2 o'clock sharp at the driving park.

BICK WILL DISPLAY HIS WARES TOMORROW

Bevo Bick will do the heavy lifting for the All-Stars in their game with the Milton Junction Trojans at Charley Bluff, Lake Koshkonong, tomorrow afternoon. Both Hager and team ball are in reserve. The game will be the main attraction at the Forrester's picnic there.

The Stars are determined to obtain revenge for their one-point defeat received from the Trojans last Sunday. Leo Dugan will umpire the game. Crowley will perform with the mask and mitt. Hager will probably cover third in the absence of Grasslin, who is ill.

COBB, OUT OF LINE-UP FOR WEEK, LOSES LEAD TO NEW YORK SLUGGER

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, June 28.—Roger Peckinpaugh, New York's ace, with an average of .395, has dethroned Ty Cobb, Detroit, for batting honors in the American league, according to advanced figures released today. Peckinpaugh had been out of the line-up all week. As a result, Ty Cobb, a teammate, has worked up to a tie with the Georgian for second place with a mark of .358. Besides leading the batters, Peckinpaugh broke the tie which he shared with Sisler, St. Louis, last week for runs scored and is in front now with 11 to his credit. Cobb's idleness enabled Roth, Philadelphia, to break the tie for total base honors. Roth has 107. Milan, Washington, showed best work among the batters, changing from twenty-third place a week ago to fourth place. Ruth, Boston slugger, slumped in batting and dropped to seventeenth place with .303; however, he added another homer to his string and leads with 11. Chapman, Cleveland, continued to lead sacrifice hitters with 22, while Johnson, a teammate with 17 stolen bases, continued to show the way to the base stealers.

Other leading batters for 20 or more games: Milan, Washington, .346; Johnston, Cleveland, .343; Flagstead, Detroit, .347; Sisler, St. Louis, .332; Shorten, Detroit, .325; Roth, Philadelphia, .325; Weaver, Chicago, .320; Rice, Washington, .320. Gavy Cravath, Philadelphia slugger, by cracking out three home runs in a week, leads the home run department, broke the triple tie for total base honors shared by himself, Doyle and Kauff New York, and continued leading National league batters who participated in 30 or more games. Cravath's average is .408, acquired on 62 hits, made in 47 games. He has 16 doubles, 4 triples, and 8 homers, for a total base mark of 110.

Olsen leads the run makers with 55, while Bigbee, Pittsburgh, continues to lead the base stealers with 18. Lee Magee, Chicago, formerly with Brooklyn, leads sacrifice hitters with 17. Thorpe, Boston, .407; Wingo, Cincinnati, .384; Southworth, Pittsburgh, .383; Young, New York, .347; Williams, Philadelphia, .320; Clark, St. Louis, .317; Z. White, Brooklyn, .314; Shotton, St. Louis, .311; Gohl, Cincinnati, .310; Mousel, Philadelphia, .310.

Hendryx, Louisville, increased his batting lead in the American association. His mark is .397. Becker and W. Miller, Kansas City teammates, joined Bascher, Louisville, for scoring honors, each having registered 39 times. Becker increased his total base mark to 103, and remained tied with Brier for home run honors with 5. Crane, Indianapolis, tied J. McCarthy, Louisville, in sacrifices with 17. Bascher continued leading base stealers with 19 thefts.

Other leading batters, Bascher, Kansas City, .368; Niehaus, St. Paul, .333; Good, Kansas City, .332; Taggart, Colorado, .323; Cochran, Kansas City, .320; Dettel, Louisville, .314; Kirke, Louisville, .313; Covington, Indianapolis, .313.

JUNIOR STARS MEET EDGERTON OUTLAWS

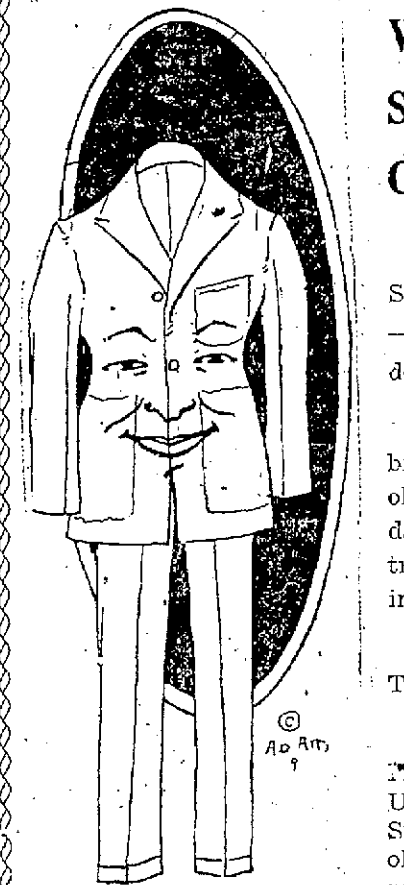

The Junior All-Stars will go to Edgerton Sunday to play the Edgerton Outlaws. The Outlaws were recently defeated by the regular All-Stars and according to what they say, the Edgerton team is a fast one, but Capt. L. Grasslin has put his men through stiff practice. The battery will probably be Zann and Gokey, with Dawson and Dickerson on reserves.

The line up will be as follows:
C. Gokey, p; Zann, ss; culien, 1b; R. Leary, 2b; Arbecker, 3b; Dickerson, 1c; Capt. Grasslin, cf; Litney, rf; J. Leary.

Panthers to Play Afton Nine Here Tomorrow

The Upland Panthers will play the Afton Allstars Sunday at the diamonds on Third street. The Panthers played the Allstars in the early season, at Afton and defeated them. Prong and Krueger will pitch and Cookson will catch for the local nine.

The Upland Panthers will challenge any team under 15. Teams wishing a game may call up 1361 on the old phone, or Blue 1071 on the new phone.

Upper row—Ward Donahue, manager; George Vincy, center; Joseph Nolan, substitute; Robert Kenning, substitute; Louis Nolan, assistant manager.
Lower row—William Kober, forward; George Cassidy, forward, (Captain); Harlin Drew, guard; Harold Ryan, guard.

With a record of seven straight victories without a defeat, St. Patrick's basketball team had little trouble in running away with the championship of the 1919 church league. They scored a total of 303 points during the season, 135 field goals and 32 free throws, making only 63 fouls. The cup donated to the winners by the Gazette has been formally turned over to Capt. Cassidy. It will remain the property of the St. Patrick's Five for a year, when it will become the property of the team winning the championship of the 1920 league. It will become the permanent property of any team winning the championship for three consecutive years.

SPORT SNAP-SHOTS

BY JACK KEENE.

Umpire Ollie Chill of the American league, just about established a record the other day when he chased three-fourths of the Detroit infield in the seventh inning, with the score a tie at 1 to 1. Chill declared a Boston runner safe at the plate. It was a very close decision. In a moment the diminutive umpire was surrounded by every member of the Detroit club. There are a lot of six-footers on the Tigers and Chill is not looking over from view. What happened while athletes crowded around him will probably never be known, suffice it to say that when the cobras were had away, Bush, Young and Hellman had been sent to the showers.

A few seconds later Manager Hugh Jennings was requested to join his unruly athletes. At the station, Billy Kop of the Reds plays the short field position as deep as any man in the game.

Bob Connery, agent for the New York Yankees, has been making a tour of Pacific Coast league cities. His particular object was to look over Oscar Stanton, one of the Tiger catchers, was away out in left field warming up a pitcher.

As Jennings went to the clubhouse he notified Chill that Stanton was acting manager. Chill in turn was forced to walk several hundred feet into left field to so notify Stanton, who was the most surprised individual in the world at the honor so suddenly thrust upon him.

Jimmy Hill, the Australian featherweight champion, has arrived in New York. Hill came to this country for the express purpose of meeting Johnny Kilbane in a battle for the featherweight championship of the world. In weight championship Hill ruled supreme. He outclassed the men of his own poundage so far that he was forced to seek matches in the lightweight division.

Hill says he is perfectly willing to take on any of the American lightweight just to show that he is a real fighter. At present Hill weighs 123 pounds but declares that he can make 122 if necessary.

The Australian is a quiet youth who looks the part of a real fighter. He will be managed by Tim O'Sullivan, the man who brought the late Les Darcy to this country.

The Mackmen, are not winning many games, but they are making miserable for opposing pitchers these days.

Bobby Roth has begun to hit in old time form and is pelting many a slam for extra bases.

San Viek's all around work this season is a big improvement on what he showed previously as a Yankee.

RAILS WILL BATTLE DARIEN NINE, SUNDAY

The C. M. & St. P. baseball team will journey to Darien tomorrow to attack the team of that village, which walloped the Blackhawks in an inning game last Sunday. The Rails will leave at 11:30 on a big auto truck. All railroad men who have cars and are not working tomorrow are invited to accompany the team.

The members of the battery say they are in tip-top shape. The other members of the team are feeling fine, too. They have been going through some stiff practice this week and feel confident of grabbing off honors tomorrow.

Russian "Grown-ups" 15 Years Old Learning to Play American Games

Russian children, like children everywhere else, play, but only while they are children. As soon as they become "grown up" and reach the age of 12 or 13, they seem to think it is not proper to play any more. The girls then stay closely at home and the boys proceed to loaf, drink, smoke and gamble.

Since the revolution, the lot of children in Russia has been worse than ever. To combat these evils the Y. M. C. A. is organizing a series of playgrounds. Instead of loafing, the boys are learning to play football, basketball, tennis, and track games, handball and swimming are good substitutes for smoking and gambling.

The scout movement, too, has taken a great hold, and the girl in the picture is leader of the new Girl Scouts in Samara, a town in central Russia on the Volga river. There the Y. M. C. A. has five athletic fields and playgrounds and is getting ready for a big summer season of games. The boy, who looks Irish, answers to the name of Shanghai and is a Russian, lives in a Chinese city—Harbin, Manchuria, several thousand miles west of Samara, to which the "Y's" growing chain of athletic fields now extends.

The "Y" also is providing athletics for Russian and Czech soldiers. Even the Tartars are learning American games, the rules for which have been translated into Russian, Chinese and Turkic. The Tartars take to the new games, but they also "kick to" the athletic apparatus until a threat that they would be barred ended the souvenir collection.

ICE CREAM USERS UNDER EYE OF LAW

Madison, June 28.—Gov. E. L. Philipp this week signed his signature to a law which will produce a feeling of a sensation among ice cream consumers when its provisions become known. The law is a short one but it covers wide ground, for it directly affects the consumer who purchases a pint of milk in a bottle and touches it to the retailers of ice cream who purchase the cream from manufacturers. The law was enacted to protect the consumer from adulterated cream, to reach ice cream users who fail to thoroughly cleanse containers in which they receive the cream, or who fail to return the containers within 72 hours.

The law will be enforced by the state dairy and food department, and Commissioner G. J. Weigle announces that will be strictly enforced. Mr. Weigle says that beside the loss annually in ice cream and milk containers, which reaches many thousands of dollars from the destruction by acids of the containers, that are allowed to stand empty without cleansing, the practice endangers the health and life of people who use milk or ice cream.

The chief offenders against whom the law is aimed are the big retailers of ice cream, but a reading of the text of the law will make clear that the family that purchases a quart of ice cream for Sunday dinner, or that buys milk in bottles may find itself prosecuted for a failure to return thoroughly clean the container, and then the other frequent offenders against the law which will find themselves promptly prosecuted if they continue to offend are the small grocery, drug and confectionery stores that sell ice cream.

Chief Gets Vacant Room; Unearths Game of Poker

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Cincinnati, Ohio.—Room 408 is vacant, said the night clerk to Night Chief of Police Kirgan.
"All right, I'll take it," said the officer.
Kirgan knew something about vacant rooms, so he mounted the stairs directly to 408. Vacant? Huh, uh! There was a lot of men, poker chips, cards and other things in the room.

Woodpecker Stops Train; Short-Circuited Wires

San Francisco.—Ever hear of a woodpecker holding up a train? That is just what happened recently at Iron Point, Nev., according to the president of the Eureka-Nevada Railway.
It seems the woodpecker took a fancy to the relay apparatus of a signal box and pecked at the wires until they were short-circuited. Immediately the signal swung up denoting danger. Southern Pacific Overland No. 5 came along and halted. After a wait of one hour the engine driver investigated and found the woodpecker busy at "lunch" on the wires. A crowbar had to be used to remove the pest from the box.

"WADHAMS!" The Watchword of Every Aviator Who Lands In Janesville

LAST week a government aviator swooped from out of the blue sky down into Janesville. "I want gasoline—I want Wadhams," said he. And Wadhams he got.

And the checkered delivery plane from Chicago that is becoming a familiar sight over southern Wisconsin—"Wadhams" is the gasoline its pilot insists upon.

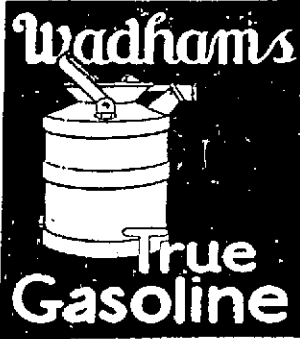

Two weeks ago Col. Claggett's squadron of De Havilland bombing planes landed on an aviation field outside Milwaukee. It was a Saturday afternoon; Wadhams' warehouse was closed; the fleet was short of gasoline and due in Indianapolis. They insisted on Wadhams. "If we can't get Wadhams this afternoon," said the Colonel, "we'll have to stay here till Monday." They got Wadhams.

WITH the aviators it was a matter of life-or-death consideration. With you it is a choice—whether to pay a few pennies more a gallon for honest, old-fashioned straight run and insure instant starting, missless firing, freedom from carbon and immunity from kerosene-spoiled lubricants, or to "save" those few first-cost pennies and force into your protesting motor a monopoly-manipulated fuel that is over-laden with carbon and kerosene—a fuel that starves, racks and chokes your motor constantly.
